

Years are just a number, time keeps its pace
But within us burns a fire, always in place
We dance through life, in rhythm with our dreams
With every heartbeat, we feel the eternal themes

Timeless in the beat, we let ourselves sway
The music within us will forever stay
Thomas at sixty, happy with his life
Finding joy in every day, free from strife

Sixty years young, the world is still ours
We soar to new heights, like shooting stars
The beats in our blood, electrifying and clear
We live and we love, each and every year

Timeless in the beat, we let ourselves sway
The music within us will forever stay
Thomas at sixty, happy with his life
Finding joy in every day, free from strife

Every day a new song, every night a dance
We walk our path, in the pulsing trance
The future is our stage, life a grand show
Let the melody play, forever we'll flow

Timeless in the beat, we let ourselves sway
The music within us will forever stay
Thomas at sixty, happy with his life
Finding joy in every day, free from strife

Free from strife
